PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

By: Michele Tabor Kimbrough

We had another exceptional exhibition of phenomenal artworks at the Panama City Center for the Arts (PCCA), Panama City, FL. With 104 fantastic paintings, our juror, Kathleen Giles, wished she had more awards to give away!

Anastasia Dengerud, Marketing & Exhibition Coordinator, PCCA and her team provided excellent concierge service ensuring all works were unpacked, displayed, and repacked. They made our work as volunteers a breeze.

We had a full house of workshop participants for Kathleen Giles' 3-day workshop painting 3 different subject matters, some crab apples, a portrait, and a horse. Thank you, Kathleen, for sharing your knowledge and experience!

Your board members also did a lot of work from start to finish. Gwen Kodad and I managed the Call for Entry, CAFÉ' site for all our applicants. Thank you everyone for entering! Gwen is also our tech guru who manages our website! She also picked up from CoCo Dauer all membership responsibilities and transitioned our membership database to be available on our website. Don Taylor, Exhibition chairperson, coordinated all venue requirements, our juror, and workshop, as well as awards. Diane Simon pulls together our newsletters and creates all the award certificates. Tuva Stephens is our social media gal and Marilynne Bradley is our Historian. Kathy Simon-McDonald helps us in all areas as needed and finally, Jean Weiner keeps our treasury in tip top shape. Thank you, team, for all you do!

We also want to thank all our members in supporting this organization for its 46th Exhibition!

46th EXHIBITION CHAIRPERSON 2023

Don Taylor
Chairperson,
Past President

There are many people to thank when such an exhibition takes place. First of all, I would like to express our gratitude to Jayson Kretzer and the entire staff of the Panama City Center for the Arts, as well as the City of Panama City, FL. Panama City is very unique in that our city is such a supporter of the arts. We are indeed fortunate to have such a great facility that is available for all of the arts.

The PCCA was responsible for handling all the shipped paintings and hand carried paintings, packing & unpacking, hanging, and labeling paintings, and hosting our workshop and reception. They did an admirable job!

Michele Tabor Kimbrough, our president, helped with many of the details and presented the awards at the reception. She worked tirelessly to help make this a success!

Our juror, judge, and workshop instructor, Kathleen Giles was a pleasure to work with. Our workshop was the largest and most successful that we have ever held, and I want to thank Kathleen for a wonderful job in all aspects. Her workshop was superbly organized and much was accomplished!

Kathleen had selected an outstanding exhibit through the jurying process, and then had the difficult task of selecting award winners. All in all, Southern Watercolor Society once again hosted one of the premier watercolor shows in the country!

Also, I wish to acknowledge the help and support of the entire board of directors of Southern Watercolor Society. This was truly a collaborative effort!

Thanks again to everyone involved!
Don Taylor

JUROR'S STATEMENT

Juror of Awards
Kathleen S. Giles, AWS NWS
Watercolor Artist and Instructor
kgilesstudio@hotmail.com

It was a pleasure and an honor to select and judge the paintings for The Southern Watercolor Society. The variety of subjects and styles made for a beautiful and eclectic showing of great watercolor. I have been privileged to visit many of the most highly rated watercolor group shows in person. I can honestly say that this show was of that quality. It is always such a thrill to see work in person. Photographs and computer screens never do justice to the subtle variations of color and value found in watercolor on paper.

In trying to distinguish the award-winning works, I rely on a few basic principles. Firstly, the overall visual impact the painting makes on me. Do I understand what I am seeing? Does the painting work? Meaning, did the artist use good composition and a strong value pattern? Is there color harmony? Is the drawing and perspective correct?

Then, in order to find the best of the group I rely on deeper questions. Does the painting tell me a story? Can I relate to it or understand it? Is the technique excellent? Are there brushstrokes or patterns that pull me in? Color often is one of the main decision-making elements for me but value is equally important. The painting that won first place appealed to me immediately. It checked all of my boxes. I loved the mysterious quality of the woman's eyes. The use of line and shape, texture and color were all wonderfully represented. The piece had a collage feeling that I personally really liked and it was painted with confidence. It is a great example of contemporary watercolor.

Of course, I wish I could have included every painting and given each painting an award. I still get rejected and overlooked for awards at times and it honestly just makes me work harder. To all of you I say keep painting and growing in your art. Art is our escape and our joy.

Thank you,
Kathleen

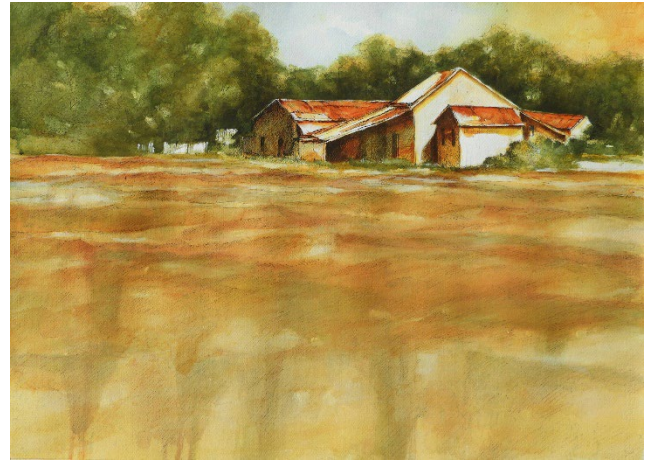

Panama City Center for the Arts Anastasia Dengerud, Exhibition Coordinator

At the corner of Harrison Avenue and 4th Street in Historic Downtown Panama City is the Panama City Center for the Arts. This beautiful structure, built in 1925, is owned by the City of Panama City and managed by Bay Arts Alliance. Bay Arts Alliance is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit with the mission to support, promote, and develop the arts as essential to the growth of our community. The Center is home to exciting and diverse exhibits, interactive classes, and special events that offer fun and entertainment for the entire family. We change our galleries every month, giving our community the opportunity to see over 30 new exhibitions a year. It is with great pleasure that the exemplary work of the Southern Watercolor Society returned to the Center for the Arts this year and we look forward to displaying this juried exhibition again in the future. We would like to thank the SW, Michele Kimbrough and Don Taylor for their efforts in organizing, and all of the artists who shared their work with us to create a stunning and colorful exhibit."
